

ANOTHER ROBBERY OF OCEAN MAILS

Valuable Consignment of Securities for Baltimore Bankers Missing.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—Bankers here who have been expecting valuable consignments of securities from Switzerland are much perturbed at their non-arrival, and the belief is gaining ground that another ocean mail robbery has been committed.

Townsend, Scott & Co. were informed three weeks ago that the Swiss bankers who are their regular correspondents had forwarded to them a package containing $10,000 of Virginia Railroad Company securities and $20,000 of Baltimore Brick Company stock, but up to date this consignment has not arrived, and great uneasiness is felt.

The bankers do not know how these securities were sent, or on which steamer they were shipped, and they refuse to disclose the name of the sender, but they have taken every possible action in the case. Cables were sent to Switzerland, and the Swiss bankers not only emphatically repeated the statement that the package had been despatched, but they also forwarded a complete list of the missing securities.

Just where or how the robbery was committed cannot now be ascertained, and the postal authorities are unable to throw any light on the matter.

Inquiries made at the General Post Office in this city elicited the fact that none of the postal officials knew anything about the robbery.

JILTED BY 'PHONE, GIRL BRINGS SUIT.

Pretty Stenographer Had Also Been Wooed and Won Over the Fickle Electric Wires.

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—Maggie Howard, a pretty stenographer, asserts that Joseph Poarch, a grocer, with a big store, made love to her over the telephone, occupying most of her time. Finally he proposed by wire, the electric current and other waves carrying back to him the much-desired "yes." Then Miss Maggie resigned, and made ready for the wedding.

"Maggie, I am married. We are having a party to-night come down, I want you to meet my wife."

The grocer was still doing business on the 'phone, and this was the startling message he flashed one day to his former sweetheart.

Miss Maggie Howard got angry, also busy with a lawyer, with the result that she filed a suit for $5,000 for breach of promise of marriage.

"That you, Joe?" came a feminine voice over the wire next day. "Yes," replied Mr. Poarch, not recognizing his ex-divinity.

"This is Maggie; you're sued; good day," and with a laugh and a satisfied smile Miss Howard hung up the receiver.

$50,000,000 BOND SALE.

State Canal Issue Open to All Who Can Make $1,000 Bid.

ALBANY, March 28.—Comptroller Glynn gave out a statement last night inviting a popular subscription for the $50,000,000 canal bond sale, to take place at the Comptroller's office April 5.

The statement was issued, Mr. Glynn said, because there seems to exist a mistaken impression that only bids for large amounts would be entertained. He says bids for small amounts will be as acceptable as for large, with the sole restriction that no bid be less than $1,000. The Comptroller is prevented by law from receiving less than par for State bonds.

The bonds pay 3 per cent. interest, run for fifty years and are exempt from taxation.

SMELTING SCANDAL NOW GETS IN COURT

Peter B. Bradley and Others Bring Suits Against Sweeney for Share of Profits.

A suit has been instituted by Peter B. Bradley in the Supreme Court, in which he seeks to recover from Charles Sweeney $122,342.50 which he claims to be due him as a result of transactions in the stock of the Federal Mining and Smelting Company. The sum sued for represents the difference between $75,372.50 at which Sweeney is alleged to have sold Bradley's stock, and $207,700, which Bradley avers he received for it.

Bradley, in his complaint goes into the history of the Federal Mining and Smelting Company, says it was organized with a capital of $20,000,000, and that Sweeney, as a large stockholder, controlled the management of the corporation.

The matter got into court yesterday when Justice Newburger was asked to strike out a portion of the complaint as scandalous and irrelevant. This he refused to do, and he adopted the same course in a suit brought against Sweeney by Peter B. Bradley, Robert S. Bradley, Edward J. Barney, Edwin Packard, James B. Duke, the firm of Wolf Bros. & Co., and Alexander Mitten. Jacob N. Oppenheim and James Small, for an accounting of the profits of a pool entered into by them in the stock of the Federal Mining and Smelting Company. All of these Wall Street men unite in an application to the court to have Sweeney make an accounting of the profits he made on the transaction.

Boston Society Leader's Mother Announces the Fact in a Letter From Paris.

BOSTON, March 28.—The exclusive Back Bay circle received the authorized announcement from Paris yesterday that the engagement between Conover Fitch prominent club man and young society leader, and Miss Lilly Norten, of Brighton, England, had been severed by mutual agreement. Beyond the brief announcement contained in a letter from Paris written by Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch mother of the young man, saying that the engagement was off, there was no further news to show the causes that led up to the parting of the brilliant young society leader and his handsome English fiancée.

The Fitches are millionaires and occupy a magnificent mansion at No. 25 Commonwealth avenue.

CONDUCTOR HERO KILLED BY TRAIN

McCabe Tried to Save Immigrant, and Both Lost Their Lives.

As the immigrant train on the New Jersey Central Railroad was leaving the station in Jersey City last night two immigrants who had tickets for a Pennsylvania town imagined they were on the wrong train and made a dash for the platform. The one in the lead jumped off, but Conductor Thomas McCabe grabbed the second one and held him back.

He struggled desperately to free himself and finally the two rolled from the platform to the ground. An incoming train struck them both. The immigrant was killed and McCabe had both legs cut off. He died on the way to the hospital. His home was at No. 31 Orchard street, Elizabeth.
